RESEARCH

The Department of Political Science conducts research in all core areas of political science, develops innovative and problem-oriented research areas and offers many opportunities for specialised study. The staff examine the forms and functional transformation of governance, democracy and solidarity in various policy areas, geographic regions (including Eastern Europe and Latin America) and political spaces (such as Austria and the EU).

Main areas of research:

Many research projects are located at the Department of Political Science:

We look forward to your visit!

Dieter Segert, Head of Department

Josef Melchior, Deputy Head of Department

TEACHING

The Department of Political Science is the largest political science teaching institution in Austria and educates students on the basis of the latest research of our staff. We also work in interdisciplinary programmes of the University of Vienna.

Degree courses in political science are organised by the Department of Political Science, the Department of Government, and the Graduate Centre of the Faculty of Social Sciences.

Teaching is organised by the directorate of studies with the support of the teaching service centre. Internal staff are supported in their teaching activities by a large number of external lecturers.

The Political Science degree programme includes:

- Bachelor's programme in Political Science
- Master's programme in Political Science
- Doctoral programme
