

Dear Madam/Sir,

We are annually organizing a single-molecule biophysics conference with about 200 attendees from all over the world, including about 30 renowned scientists as invited speakers, in Linz, Austria. The next and XXII. Annual Linz Winter Workshop will be held January 31-February 3, 2020, and focuses on biological single-molecule research, nano-science, nano-medicine, cell-science, and bio-nanotechnology.

It is the aim of this workshop to provide a common platform for industry and academia.

We would like to invite your company as sponsor for our next conference (January 31 – February 3, 2020).

The techniques presented will include:

- atomic force microscopy
- fluorescence microscopy
- optical/magnetic tweezers
- dynamic force spectroscopy
- optical spectroscopy
- nano-mechanics
- nano-fabrication methods
- self-assembly

Important dates:

September 10, 2019: Conference web page of the XXII. Annual Linz Winter Workshop goes live for registration and abstract submission of attendees (<https://www.jku.at/institut-fuer-biophysik/veranstaltungen/linz-winterworkshop/>).
